

The Mass Wing Sentinel

Volume 1, Issue 3

Special Encampment Edition

03 August 04

The Quest for Chow

Below:

Two cadets try to help each other balance boards onto the platforms and unfortunately he falls and costs the whole flight to jump in with him

Above:

Cadets try to get a board across the water onto the two platforms. They all worked well together but unfortunately they were also unable to complete their task and as a team they had to jump into the water.

Above:

C/1st Lt. Clark assists C/Capt. Wawrzyniak with the negotiation of an obstacle at the LRC. Together they worked as a great team, putting their bodies on the line, but ultimately weren't able to complete the exercise.

Meet Your 1st Sergeants

Only you can prevent barracks fires.

1SGT. Sullivan expects many things from the cadets, He said "I expect them to be disciplinary, efficiency, and organization". He also has many goals for the Corps. "Personally I would like for the cadets to leave Encampment with more of a sense of leadership. Also, they should develop their own sense of command. To me that means their very own way of teaching, maybe a unique tone of the command voice and last but not least a different way to deal with problems".

1SGT. Brown expects the cadets to give nothing but the best and give all that you can give. All cadets need to represent CAP to the fullest at all times.

Horror Strikes 2004 MAWG Encampment

Story submitted by an anonymous source at CAP Special Operations Command

To the utter dismay of 180 members of the 2004 MAWG Encampment, it was discovered that Francois, their mascot, has been fishnapped by terrorists suspected of having ties with the infamous BSA.

The terrorists have demanded that CAP leave immediately, and that all fish vacate Camp Edwards. If the demands are not met, they have promised to execute Francois and serve him with chips at McAbdul's.

In a web interview, Francois was heard to say, "Don't give in to these demands. I would rather give my fins than negotiate with terrorists."

The Encampment Commander, Lt Col Earl Shepard said, "The prayers of the entire Encampment are with Francois. His bravery in the face of almost certain death should be an inspiration to all of our cadets and seniors. He will not give up and neither will we."

The reporter heard rumors that a rescue mission will be attempted by an elite Ground Team. Check this column for news as it breaks...

Teams rapidly deploy.

Guidance

Grant us, O Lord, to pass this day in gladness and peace, without stumbling and without stain; that reaching the evening tide victorious over all temptation, we may praise thee, the eternal god, who art blessed forever, and dost hold in thy hand the destinies of the visible creation, worked without end. Amen.

On Task

A corps cadet feverishly cleans above his doorway last night.

Back in the World: News and Weather

To all Sox fans:

Nomar Garciaparra was traded this week to the Chicago Cubs. Sorry for your loss.

Love,

The NY Wing Cadets

Statue of Liberty to reopen to visitors

NEW YORK (AP) — Barring last-minute terrorism alerts or other problems, the Statue of Liberty will reopen to visitors Tuesday for the first time since the 2001 terrorist attacks that destroyed the nearby World Trade Center.

Race for Commander in Chief

Senator John Kerry leads President George Bush by a slight margin in opinion polls.

Red Sox rebound. Wakefield leads way over Devil Rays 6-3.

Today's Weather

Partly Cloudy/81*

Tomorrow's Forecast

Partly Cloudy/83*

Uniform of the Day

Battle Dress Uniform

Today in History

In 1492, Christopher Columbus set out on his first voyage to the New World.

In 1933 the Walt Disney Company introduced the Mickey Mouse Watch.

In 1958, the American nuclear submarine USS Nautilus passed under the North Pole.